

Our Buy services

We'll streamline your procurement strategy and utility management.

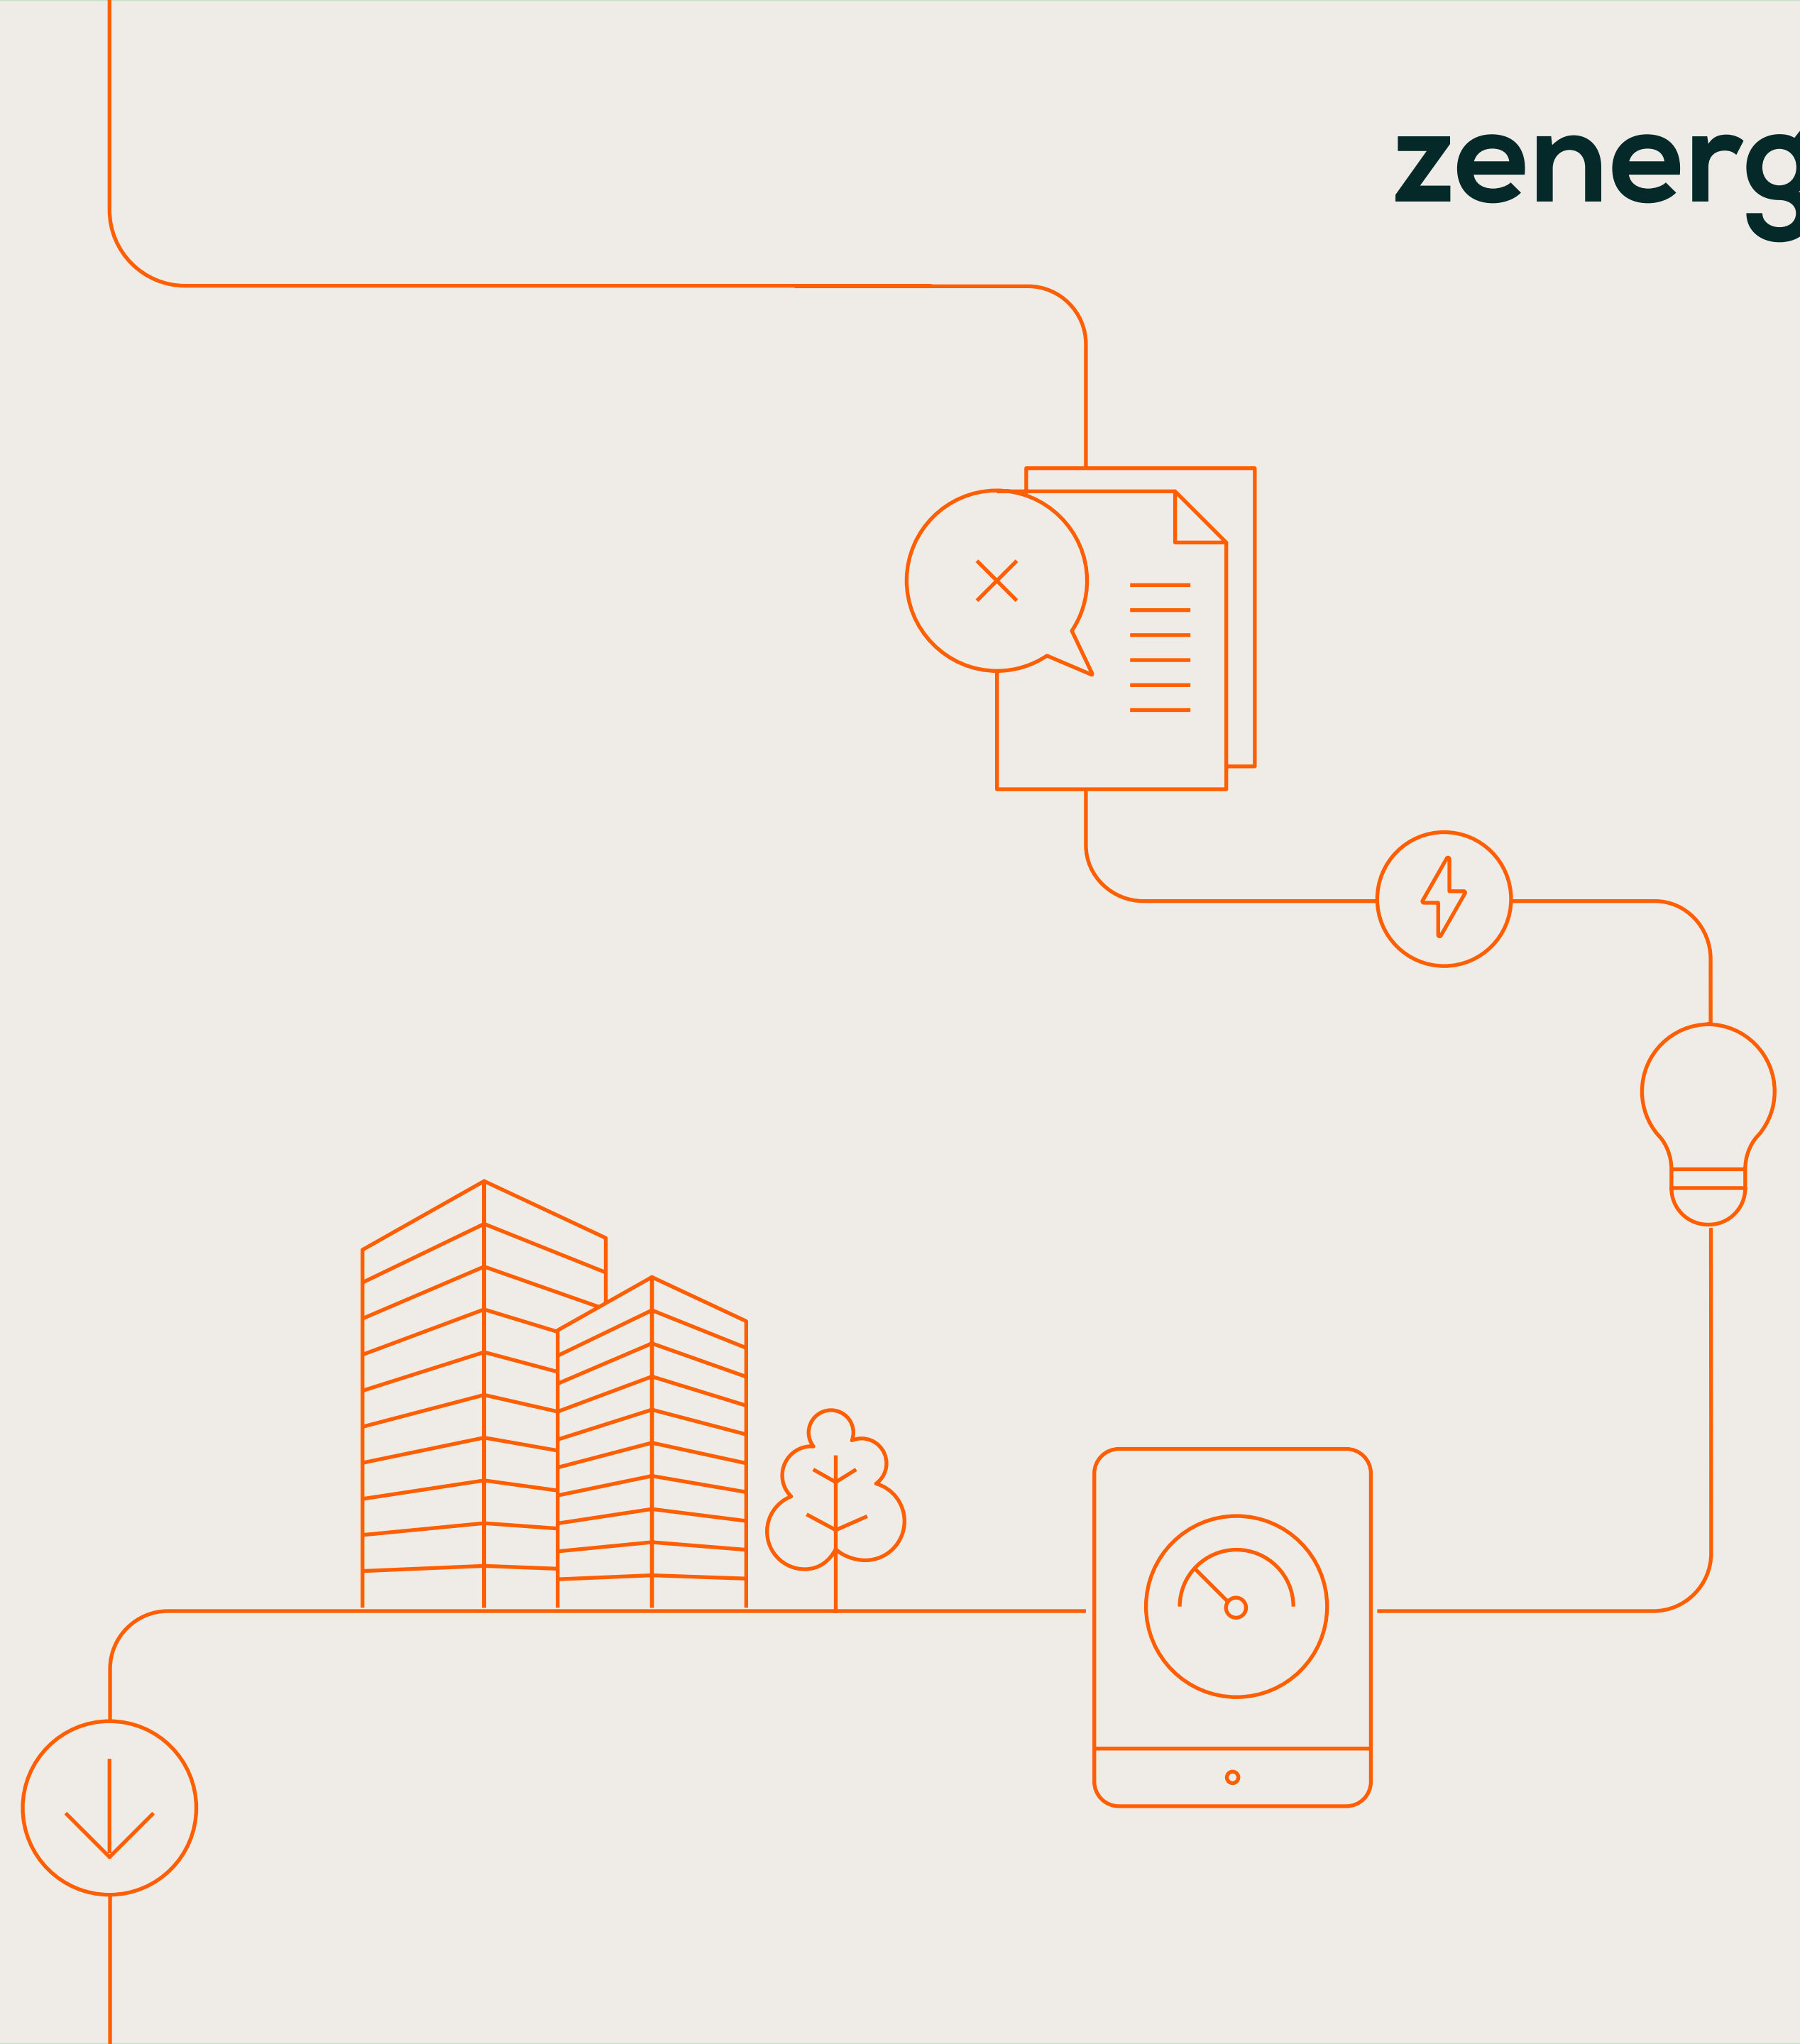

Fast-moving markets, complex contracts and volatile prices are huge challenges for any organisation today.

Are you looking for peace of mind but don't know where to start? Understanding what to buy—and when—is critical for best practice budget management and performance enhancing goals.

Our services are tailored to meet your organisation's specific needs; managing your utility consumption and validating bills to maximise value and reduce your workload.

With regular market updates, we ensure you get the best prices, contract terms and sustainable options at the right place, right time and on budget.

Buy in three steps.

Assess

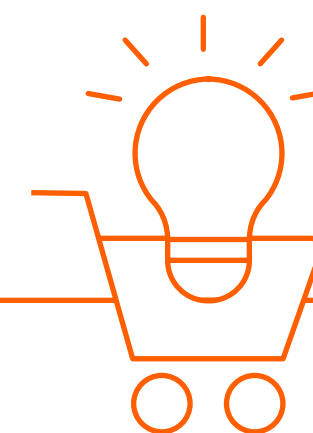

We use our knowledge of your needs, risk appetites, sustainability approach and carbon commitments to carefully assess your situation and identify measurable opportunities for efficiency and savings. We then create a tailored procurement strategy that accurately aligns with your precise needs, to minimise risk and maximise value.

Procure

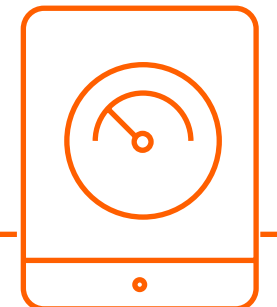

Our significant buying power and independent status give you access to the best available deals on market-leading terms. We offer an end-to-end procurement service, from initial assessment through tendering to clear and compelling recommendations. We then negotiate the very best terms on your behalf.

Manage

We continuously monitor market prices to keep your contracts competitive. Our utility specialists use market insights to identify opportunities for improvements and savings. We offer transparent analysis of your usage and contracts, advise on the best renewable energy options and manage all aspects of your supplier relationships, ensuring you stay informed at all times.

Streamlining your procurement strategy.

Energy Procurement

Take control of your energy costs.

Energy can be a significant expenditure, especially during periods of high market volatility. Securing the best value contracts is crucial to protect your organisation from any unforeseen market changes that can drive wholesale prices upwards. We'll help you take control of your energy costs by leveraging our real-time market insights, market-leading expertise and significant buying power and independent status, to access the best available deals on market-leading terms. We will help you select the supplier, the contract length and type of contract, including fixed, flex and renewable. We can prepare all the options, comparisons and risk assessment for you with an analysis of what is right for your energy needs and budget.

Water Procurement

Manage your water costs and benefit from better customer service.

Commercial water procurement can be difficult to manage independently. It can be timely and challenging comparing supplier options, service disparities, quotes and payment terms due to the endless supplier and product choices. We'll help you take control of your water procurement and usage. We can support you through water procurement, providing comparison quotes on a like-for-like basis and can also offer bill validation and benchmarking of your consumption, identifying any potential inefficiencies or leaks. You'll gain concise, independent insights to manage costs more efficiently and resolve issues quickly.

Streamlining your utility management.

Bill Validation

Concise billing assurance on energy and water consumption.

Our invoice validation service identifies any possible discrepancies in energy and water bills, ensuring the numbers are based on accurate usage data and guaranteeing the correct rates are being applied. Any discrepancies are queried with suppliers and followed through to resolution, with any incorrect payments returned to customers in full, providing full peace of mind.

Telecoms

Simplify your business communications with our future-proof telecom solutions.

In a world where connectivity is essential, organisations like yours need enhanced communication, collaboration and connectivity solutions with crystal-clear digital phone lines and seamless Microsoft Teams integration. Our bespoke cloud voice solutions are tailored to your business needs; boosting connectivity with next-generation broadband and leading mobile networks. Our comprehensive services include VoIP, managed networks, business mobile, broadband and WiFi.
