

Flexible Purchasing – Zen Secure

Secure your energy
at the right time,
not just any time.

Budget certainty and market savings. Now you can have both.

Enjoy the best of both worlds, with flexible purchasing that puts you in control with no nasty surprises.

We make it simple.

zenergi⁰

With our Flexible Purchasing – Zen Secure strategy, you delegate us to purchase your energy in advance, achieving budget certainty and lower costs by buying when the market is favourable.

With our expert team monitoring the market and driving your purchasing strategy you can rest easy, spreading the risk of volatile market conditions and leveraging optimal prices throughout the duration of your contract.

Market Watch

Our Market Watch team employ extensive experience to deliver trading strategies that have consistently delivered substantial savings for customers compared with fixed price equivalent contracts.

How does it work?

Once your contract is signed, we can begin purchasing your energy in manageable tranches over time, giving you flexibility in how and when your energy is bought. Crucially, we ensure that 100% of your energy volume for each year is secured at least six months before the delivery period begins, giving you complete budget certainty.

Contract start dates are available in either April or October and require at least 12 months' lead time, allowing us enough time to trade strategically ahead of the six-month deadline. If your current contract doesn't align, we can offer bridging contracts to ensure a smooth transition.

Is this strategy right for you?

If you desire budget certainty but don't want to sign off all your energy spend on one day, this strategy gives you that freedom.

It means you can take advantage of favourable prices when the market dips and avoid energy spikes during market volatility.
